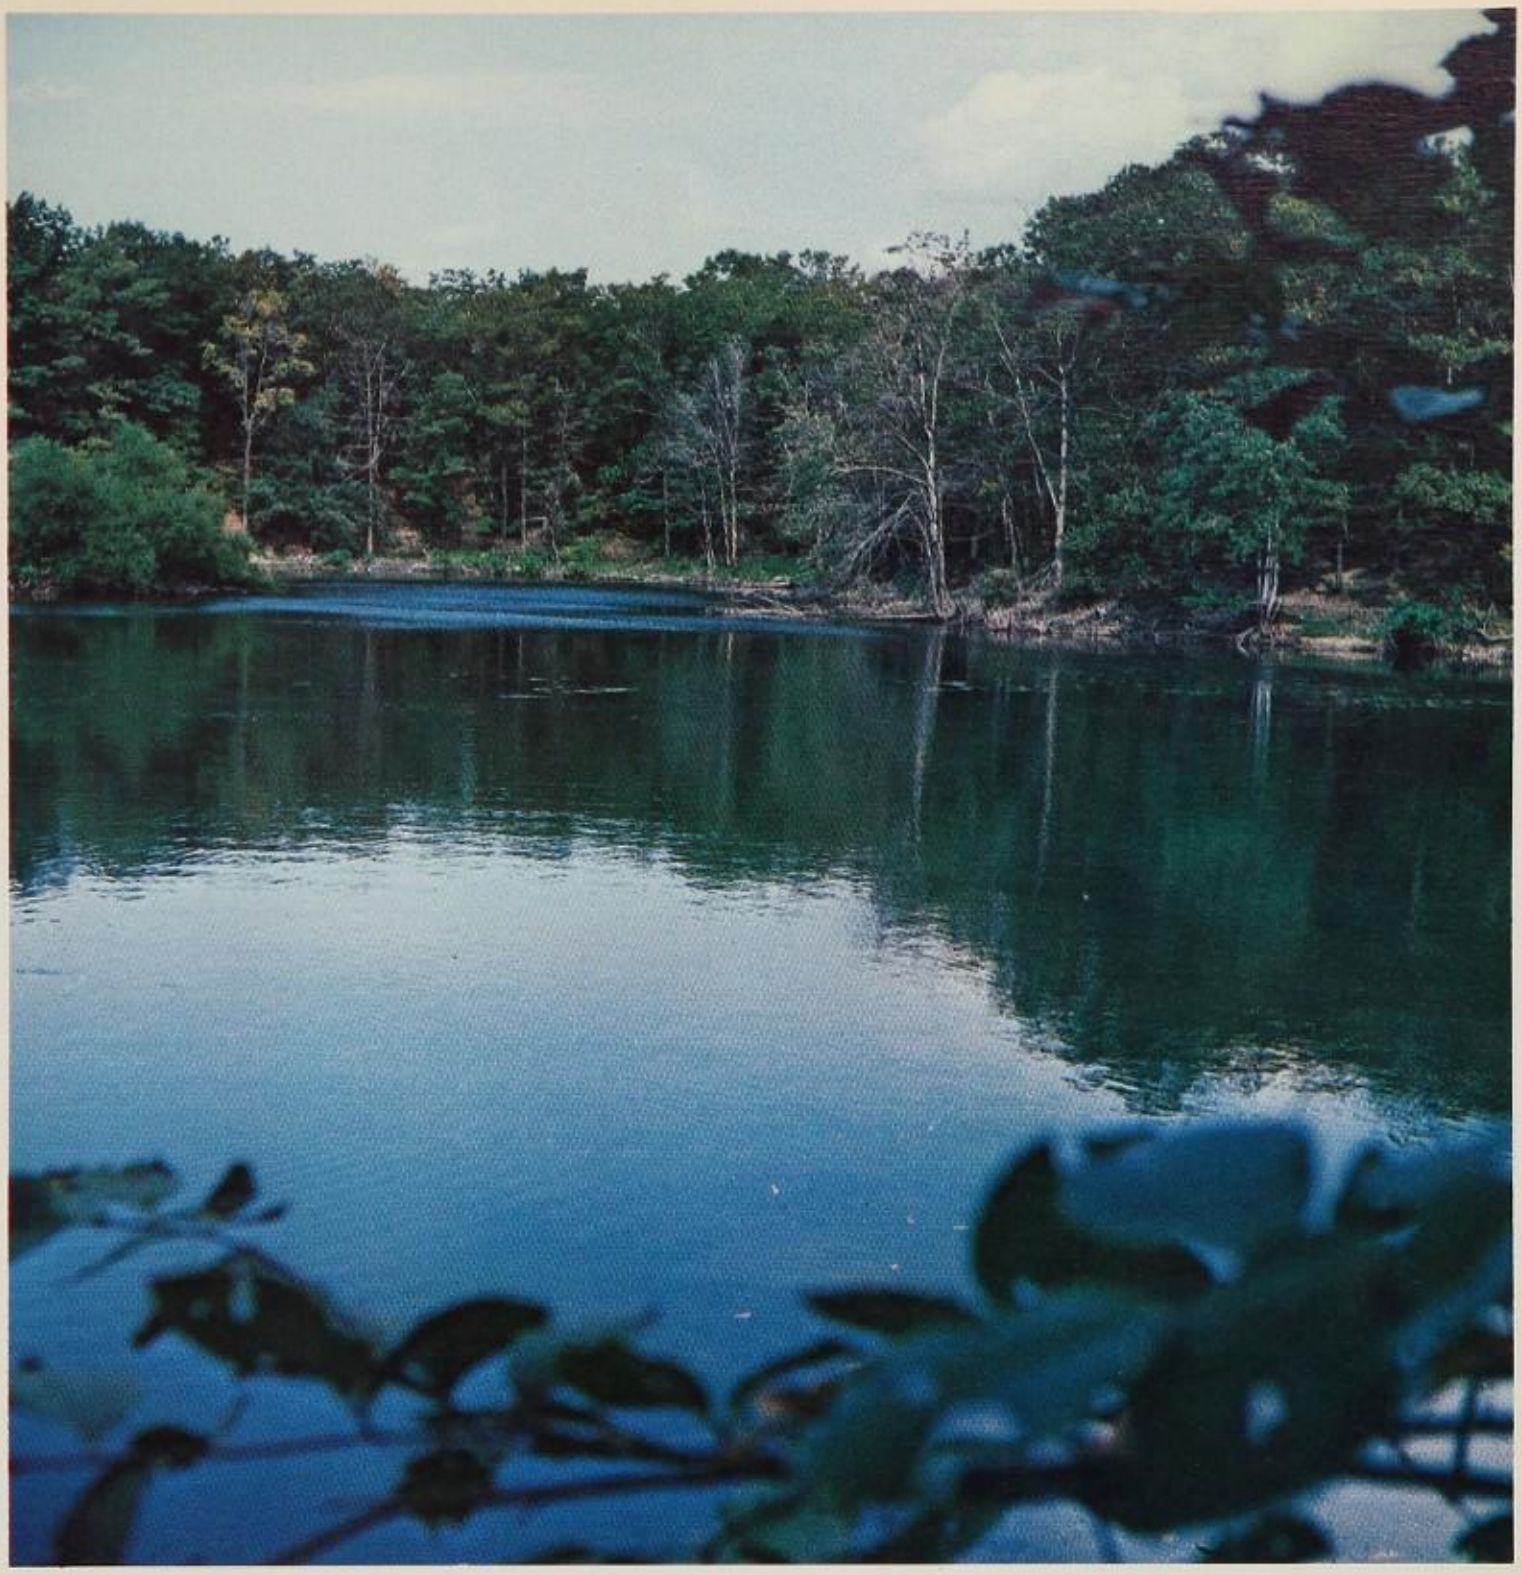
INDIANI



When our country was inhabited by Indians, Horn Pond was a frequent haunt of these Native Americans. According to legend Manitou, the spirit of Horn Pond Mountain, used to gaze at his reflection in the water of Lake Innitou, the Indian name for the pond.

As Innitou was the "looking glass" for Manitou, it will also serve as a reflection of our four years together.

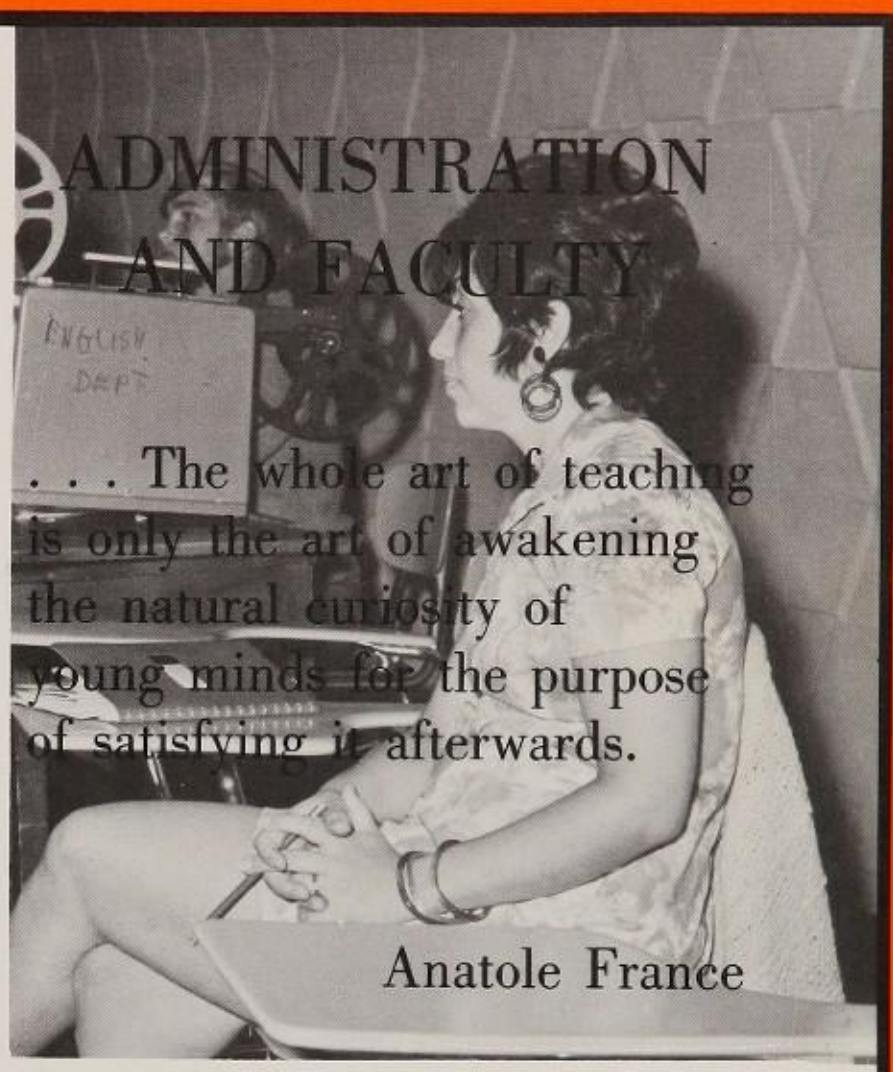
ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY



. . . The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards.

Dedication

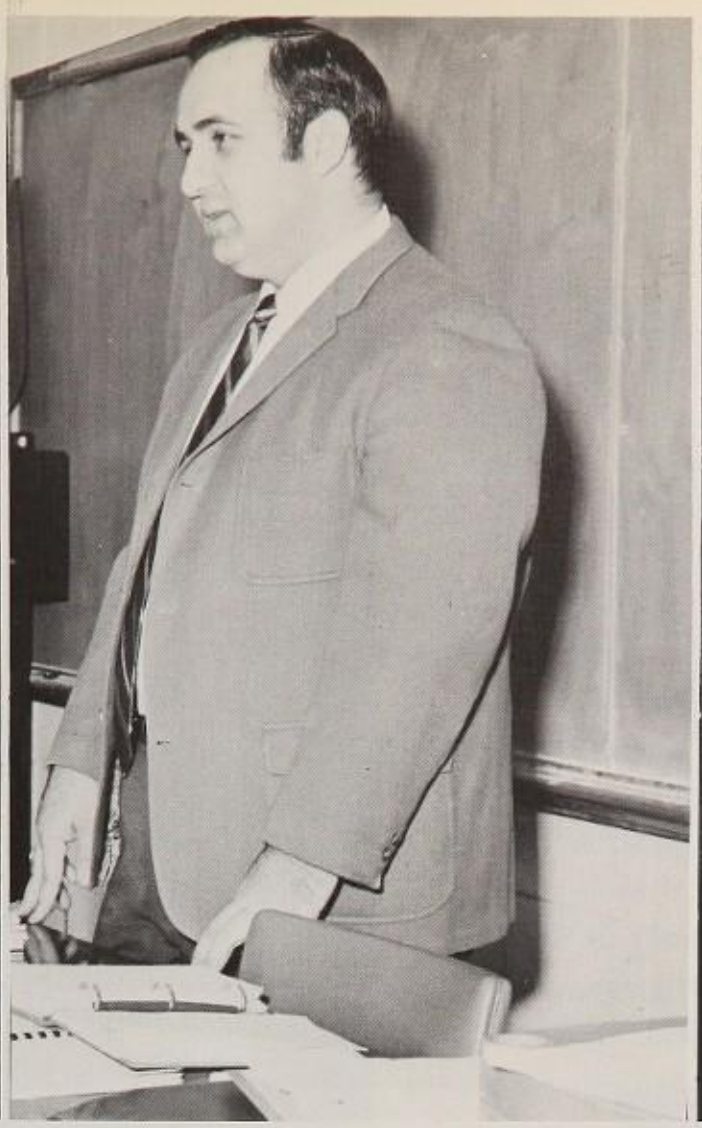
We, the class of 1971, dedicate the Innitou to a most responsible and responsive individual, who has been intimately involved and deeply concerned with the education of this class. This instructor has progressed through four years with our class in a most unique way having taught us Ancient History, World History, United States History, and Psychology.

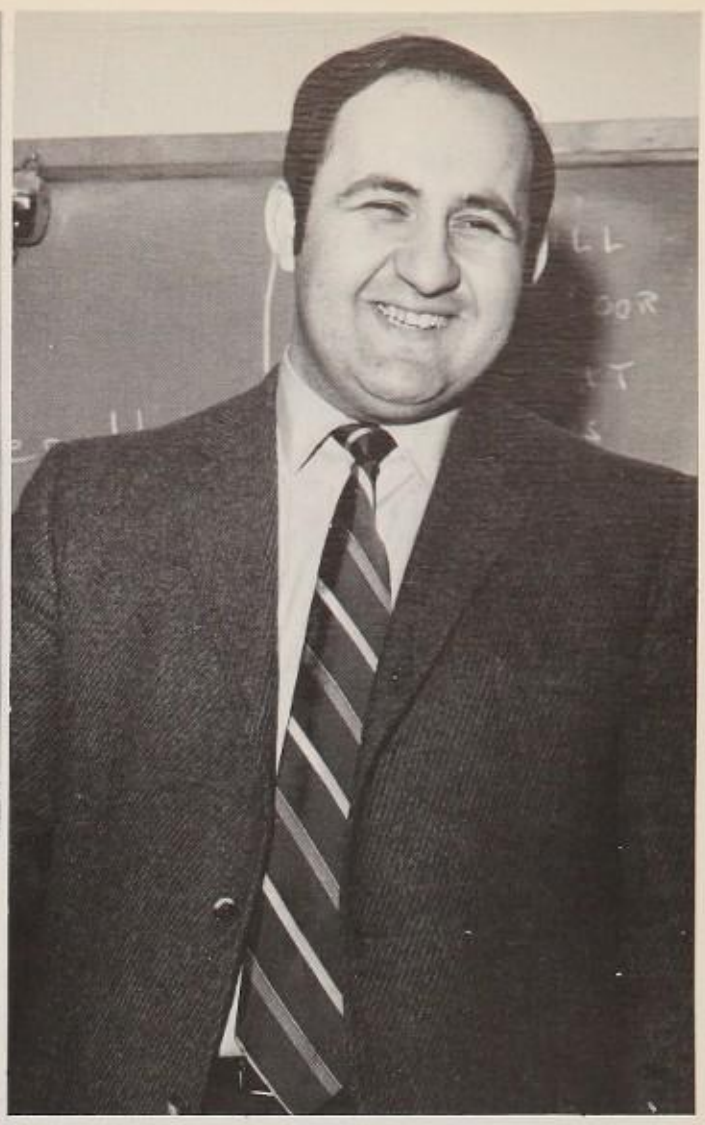
In the classroom students have found this person to be knowledgeable and stimulating while never losing his sense of humor, sometimes exhibited in critical commentary! Outside the confines of the academic area he has involved himself in many class projects and has consistently given his loyal support to our social endeavors.

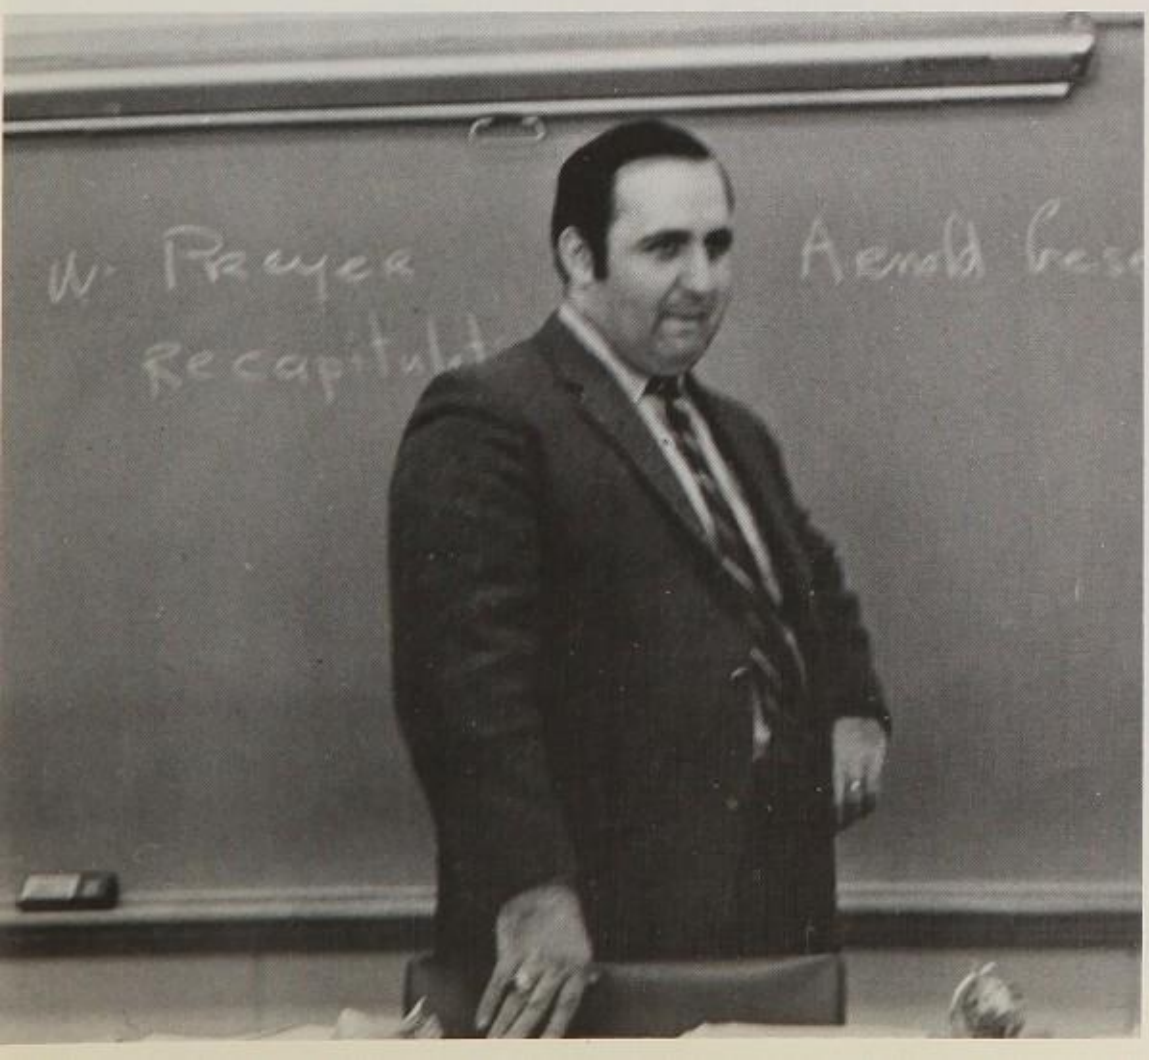
As the advisor to the Audio-Visual Club he has helped teachers and students gain otherwise unrealized perspectives through his dedication to the position.

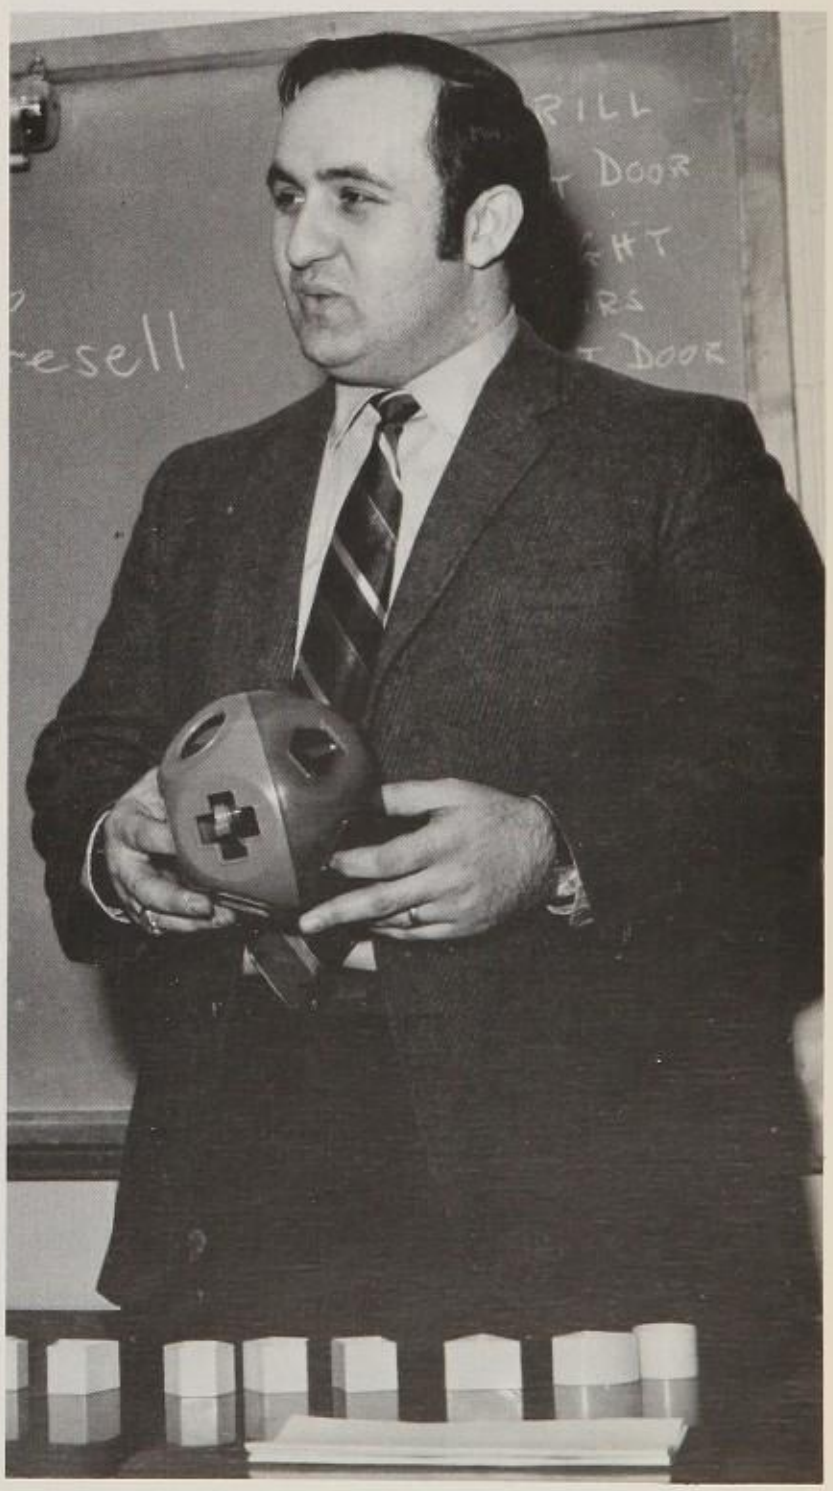
When we in the future recollect the past and the individuals who have influenced our lives, we will certainly remember you among them . . .

Mr. Michael A. Valeriani









To the 1971 Graduating Class:

The future is always a time of hope. I join with you, my young friends, who now more than ever before look to the future with hope in search of a world richer in faith, in understanding, in humility, and in the goodness of life.

I can only trust that the many experiences of your school work — your school life, your activity participation, and your relationships with teachers, your friendships, and your own development have helped to make your future more possessed of the many riches of this wonderful life!

In your spirit of faith and in your accomplishments lies a destiny for yourself and for others. Archibald Mac Leish phrased the thought so well: "East were the dead kings; West was the grass."

We are confident we shall all be better people because of you.

My sincerest best wishes to all of you,

Charles W. Lamontagne

To the members of the Class of 1971:

As you reach the end of your career in secondary education, you are entering a new stage in the world of ideas.

During the sixties, a period during which you devoted your days to preparation, we have seen a time where commitment, relevance, and involvement became basic to the campus. Larger and more talented classes were challenging the structure of education at every level. The transition from earlier times was almost abrupt.

The new decade opened with tremendous continuing changes in the social, cultural, and intellectual life of our society, and herein lies the challenge to all who will see the seventies develop as young adults.

With you there is ample opportunity to show the spirit of idealism, and to generate an optimistic view of human potential that will countervail the despair and resignation that pervades society in nineteen-seventy-one.

May the enthusiasm of your youth culminate in responsible personal goals in life and that "we may achieve in our time and for all the time the ancient vision of peace on earth, good will toward men."

The start to a memorable evening.

Charms were presented for memories long to be cherished

Renaissance Jr. Prom

The Renaissance, theme of the Junior Prom, the first formal dance for the class of 1971, was expressed in decorations depicting rebirth and rejuvenation. The Upper School Commons was festooned with shades of purple and pink swirls of streamers and original murals. The band's contemporary arrangements contributed to the festive atmosphere. The crowning of the queen of the evening signaled the end of an occasion to be remembered for many years to come.

Class Elections Dominate October

Elections came once again to Woburn High exhibiting immense student participation. The school was decorated with original posters and a large display of cars turned out for the motorcade. Following a long week of campaigning, members of the student body voted for their favorite candidates.

Many races were decided by very small margins as the results were announced at the close of school October 30th.

A Portrait of Christmas

This year's Senior Christmas Dance concentrated on an Old Fashioned Christmas. The Center of Attention was the re-creation of 19th century parlor with a fireplace, rocking chair, pictures on the mantel, and an old fashioned Christmas Tree, "Everyday People," a rock group, kept the floor filled throughout the evening. In the court yard, a 20 foot tree, gaily lighted, attracted couples' attention as they left.

Patterns

The class of 1971 chose Rod Sterling's drama about a big business entitled "Patterns" for the annual presentation of the Senior Class Play. Sterling's depiction of the complex moralities pervading the world of business provided a demanding vehicle for Fred Zollo, Keith Sullivan, Eric Bogosian, and a talented supporting cast of Christine Gallagher, Lynn Lord, James Tracy, James Brine, Brenda Pizzo, Michael Turner, Mary Gould, Barbara Mawn, Joanne Sullivan, and Paul O'Donnell.

Director Edson Kimball's 25th production was gripping drama. The value of the individual clashed with the demands of industry. Forceful confrontations featuring sensitive acting kept an appreciative audience involved until the final resolution.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

. . . Growth demands a variety of activities which stimulate special interests through which a sense of awareness and a growing concern for social development is formulated.

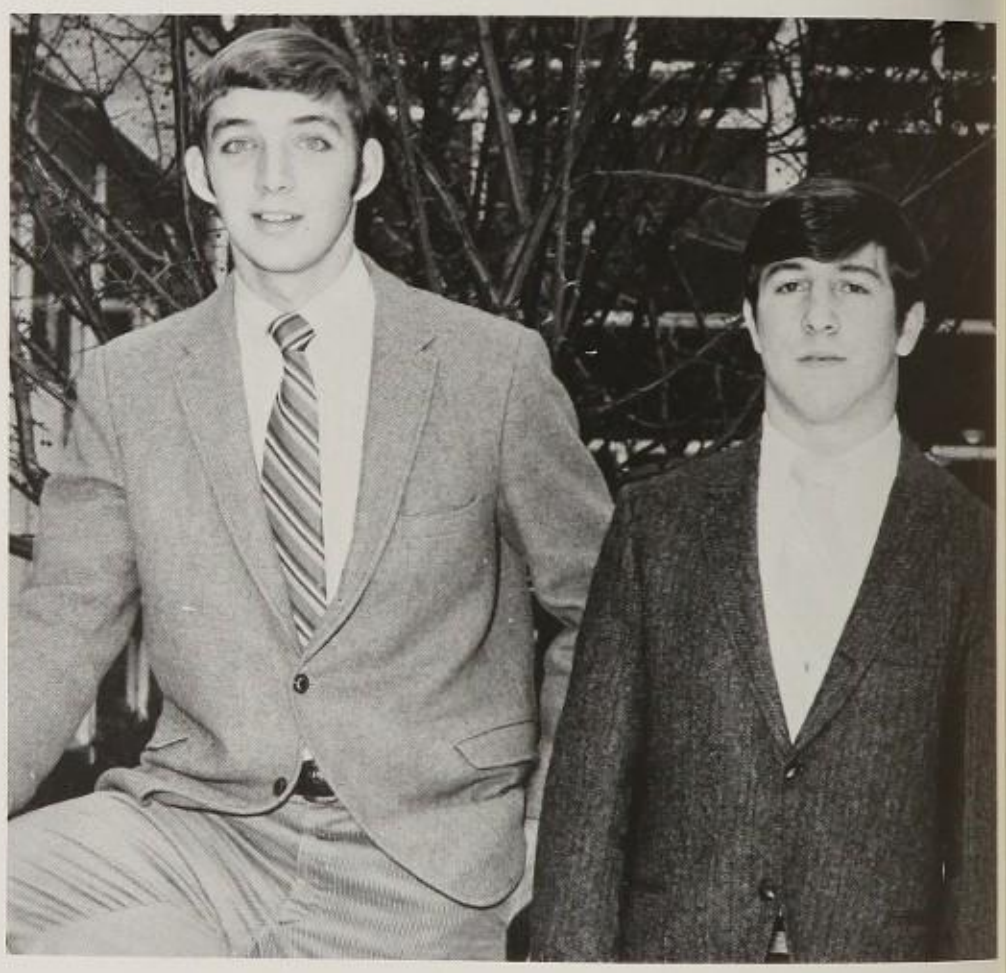
Junior Rotarians

Through attendance at weekly luncheon meetings at the Boy's Club, Junior Rotarians are introduced to civic leaders and become aware of the community's concerns. These outstanding school citizens are selected on the basis of scholarship and participation in school functions. Members of the Rotary hope that exposure to the ideals exemplified by this service organization will carry into the students' adult life.

National Honor Society

To give distinction to the members of the Senior Class who qualify both in academic achievement and in character is the purpose of the National Honor Society. The goal of the Honor Society is to provide not only recognition of past deeds, but also to stimulate incentive to further scholastic accomplishment, to give service to the community, and to set an example of leadership and character.

This year the Honor Society again conducted a "Christmas is Giving" drive to collect food for underprivileged families in Woburn. They also conducted a tutoring program to aid students in all subjects, sold refreshments at the Science Fair, and ended the year with a spring field trip.



Rotary Representatives: Jeff Lentz and Jim Doucet.

WOMEN'S CLUB: First row: Jeanne Lynch, Sydne Pilistine, Elaine Conley, Susan Kincaid. Second row: Diane McElhiney, Ann Leen, Miss Herlihy.

Women's Club Representatives

At the regular meetings of the Woburn Women's Club, six honor students represented the high school. Enjoying lunch and the varied programs enabled the students to become better acquainted with the social and cultural offerings of the community. Attendance gives meaning to the definition of "woman" in a modern society.

Democratic Drama Guild

Sitting: Jack Cagnina, Sandy Tipton, Eric Bogosian, Jimmy Tracey. Standing: Susan Kincaid, Mrs. McCausland, Karen Ring, Keith Sullivan, Fred Zollo.

The Drama Guild is a truly democratic organization. Everybody is president. No student who wishes to appear on stage is ever refused this opportunity. As a consequence, the performances include students from all levels. This group of selected and rehearsed actors and actresses constructed scenery and made appropriate costumes for all performances.

The group's major effort is the One-Act Play contest, in which three original plays are produced. Awards are presented for the most outstanding play, the most skilled director, and the most professional actors and actresses.

This year the Guild co-ordinated a new theater group called SET, the Student Exchange Theater. Several High Schools in this area participated in a Drama Festival sponsored by this group.

An Active Year for the Choraleers

The Choraleers, directed this year by Mr. Robert Hodgson, has been broadened to include participation in all major student assemblies, the Public Speaking Contest, the Winter Concert, and the Black and Orange Review. Plans for the future include more concerts and tours.

Authors of Tomorrow

Ideas of the present and knowledge of the past inspire creative minds to record their beliefs and ideas of life. The Scribes is a group of such creative people whose goal is to write tomorrow's literature today. An organization formed in the Fall of 1966, The Scribes succeeded in writing three original, highly imaginative plays.

This year's plays include "Shipwrecked" by Alan Devany and David West, "Condemned to Freedom" by Fred Zollo, and "Stolen Minds" by Karen Ring.

The plays were characterized by ironies, suspense, satire, humor, and imagination. The novel approaches to the presentation of these plays revealed the dedication and desire for perfection of the authors, directors, advisor, and members.

SOPHOMORES: Seated: Dennis McLaughlin, Jerry Benullo. Standing: Louise McCauly, Gail Tarby, Linda Bland, Jackie Taurus.

Student Council Varies Program

Participating in more activities than ever before, the Student Council provided its members with many opportunities to participate in and observe the varied functions in a society. Council members conducted the class elections and tried to create school unity.

In addition to the annual Booster Dance and Mother-Daughter Banquet, the Student Council sponsored a "car smash" to arouse spirit for the Thanksgiving Day game. A cake sale was a money-raising activity.

Demonstrating their interest in local politics, council members regularly attend School Committee meetings. In the high school, the council enacted new laws governing student life.

President — Jeff Lentz

SENIORS: Seated: Paul O'Donnell, Claire Connolly, Mary Lou Gill, Jeanne Radosta, Vernon McPhee. Standing: Jack Cagnina, Byron Breda, Joe Tarby, Kevin Connolly.

Mr. McNamara (Advisor), Jerry Benullo (Pres.), Deann Demonico (Treas.), Carol Colachico (Sec.), Richard Downey (V.P.).

Theory, Competition Highlight Meetings

Each Monday afternoon, the Woburn High School Bridge Club meets in room 8250 with its instructor, Mr. Matthew McNamara. At these meetings, the members learn the theory of the game as well as actually participating in the competition. By studying the theory of the game, the members learn to reveal the content of their cards to their partner in the preliminary bidding.

As well as having matches among the club members, tournaments with other high schools are part of the program. In the past, the representatives from Woburn have done very well in inter-school competition and are looking forward to further success in the coming school years.

Classic Club Studies the Masters

"Classical" denotes excellence of the highest degree in the fields of literature and art. It is the aim of the Classics Club to introduce its members to these various works. Attending lectures and a Latin play, visiting museums and restaurants, and conducting olympics, a chariot wash, and a Roman banquet were various activities organized by that group.

Seated: Linda O'Neil (Pres.), Janet Briand (V.P.), Lois O'Brian (Sec.), Sheila Tully. Standing: Christine Emmons, Coline Gately, Janice Galluzo, Joe App, Mrs. McGowan (Adv.), Mary Oser, Maryanne Grazziano. Missing: Ginny Cornell (Treas.).

Miss Beer (Advisor), Dan Burger, William O'Neil (V.P.), Jane Leen (Sec.), Janet Dicenzo (Treas.), Nancy Tucker (Pres.).

Future Nurses

To insure that each girl interested in nursing and related areas was aware of the many opportunities in the health field, the Future Nurses Club held monthly meetings where speakers presented information on admission requirements and application procedures for nursing, x-ray, and laboratory schools. The girls also attended Open House at several nursing schools in the area, so that they would be aware of the institutions, facilities, and courses available to them in Greater Boston.

Mr. Newark helps out again.

N.J.R.O.T.C. Drill Team

The Drill Team, a select group of twenty boys, spent many afternoons preparing for the numerous activities in which they participated. Members learn the basics of Close Order Drill, and in striving for perfection, attain the satisfaction that accompanies the mastery of complex skills. The group was conspicuous for its precision when they performed in the Veteran's Day Parade, Halloween Parade, and at half-time during the Thanksgiving football game.

Numerous Trips Provide Cultural Enrichment for the Art Guild

The Art Guild, under the direction of Mr. Frank Newark and Miss Bulova, enabled students to enrich their knowledge and appreciation of art by visiting museums and exhibits throughout the year. The Guild took its annual trip to the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, Mass. Trips to other museums were made whenever possible. This year, as in years past, members of the Guild helped to design and paint the scenery for the Three-One-Act-Plays. The last project of the year was the presentation of the Annual Spring Art Exhibition, in which the students displayed their artistic talents to an appreciative and enthusiastic public.

Audio Visual Club

The Audio Visual Club is responsible for the distribution of the visual aids materials used throughout the school. Each member must pass an extensive course on the operation and maintenance of each piece of equipment before he is qualified to serve as a media specialist. During the year the members have attended field trips to various institutions involved in the presentation of "cultural media." These include WGBG, WBZ, and WRKO. The members donate their time before and after school, and during study periods to the delivery of equipment and the operation of all types of visual aids materials. (A break-up banquet is held every year at one of the area's more fashionable eating establishments where the annual presentation of the Bell and Howell Media Specialist Award is given.

Debating Society Patterns After Advocates

Under the intuitive leadership of advisors Patricia Stewart, Denise Cecala and senior co-chairmen Joseph Matore and Frederick Zollo, the 1971 version of the Debating Society was one of change and improvisation.

After a full year out of the North Shore Debate League, the team re-entered and was highly successful despite such established teams as Lexington and Bishop Fenwick.

Moreover, besides the league competition, the society formed a discussion program patterned after NET's The Advocates. This bi-monthly program was a student service where such problems as those of open campus, curriculum, and the code of dress were discussed.

This concern for current questions along with the set of national topics made the 1971 Debating Society one of revelance, interest and student participation.

Seated: Sidney Pilistine, Lee Kiklis, Marianne Kiklis. Standing: Jordan Leff, Fred Zollo (co-chairman), Joe Matore (co-chairman). Missing: Miss Stewart (Advisor), Miss Cecala.

Chess Club

Weekly meetings after school give members of the Chess Club opportunity to improve their strategy and practice their skills by playing against each other. The group is in the process of organizing a North Suburban Chess League which would provide home and away series with area high schools. In the meantime, they have met with other schools which have chess clubs for competition, and the members attend any professional tournaments held in the area.

Europe Dominates Language Clubs

Foreign language students are given the opportunity to evelop their linguistic abilities and to experience the cul- ıre of France, Germany, Spain or Russia through the For- gn Language Clubs. Slide presentations, foreign language lms, visits to museums, and dinners at foreign restaurants rovide interesting and educational activities; while special vents such as Oktoberfest, fiestas, or the performance of ıe Moiseyev Dance Company and the Siberian Chorus of msk provide the highlights of the year. Many lucky stu- ents had the opportunity to experience a foreign culture rst hand through the April trips to France and Spain; but l students who belong to the French Club, German Club, panish Club, or Russian Club are in a sense world travel- s through their varied experiences after school.

SPANISH CLUB: (l-r) Miss Sumberg (Adv.), Maureen Byron (V.P.), Ann Byron (Sec.), Midge Shaughnessy (Pres.), Beverly Stevey (Treas.).

Interest Stimulated in Medical Fields

The main purpose of the Biology Pre-Med Club is to stimulate interest in the medical profession and in the various biological fields. The highlight of the club's activities was the annual trip to Massachusetts General Hospital where the members had the opportunity to tour the hospital laboratories and to open heart surgery. Among some of the other activities enjoyed by the club members were an informative talk presented by a medical student, a trip to the New England Aquarium, a visit to Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute and a tour of the Deer Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

A.P. Physics Club

Taking full advantage of the well equipped lab, the A.P. Physics Club strived all year to become better acquainted with the intriguing laws of physics. Under the guiding hand of Mr. John J. O'Connor, the club accomplished many rewarding experiments during the Saturday morning class. Any free time during school was devoted to such interesting topics as the study of properties of aequial solutions of paletable physics. Under the guilded hand of Bruce Farrell, who, along with the rest of the group, pioneered the principle behind the Right Only — Memory Concept in Computors, the club has endeavored to achieve excellence in all it delves into.

For the second year the Math Team has competed in a higher division in the Massachusetts Mathematical League. Despite the more intense competition, the members of the team did extremely well at their monthly meets. Meeting after school many times during the week in preparation for the contests gave the members valuable practice which culminated in many individual and team honors.

Computer Programming Experimented With

The Math Club serves the double purpose of expanding the knowledge of the members and serving other math students through a tutoring program. This year the club has been able to make extensive use of the school's computer, a small and easy-to-operate machine which has proved an excellent educational tool. Other activities for the year included a field trip to a computer complex, individual research projects by members, and programs explaining career opportunities in the field.

Assistants to the Library

Much of the clerical work of the library is performed by the Library Aides during their study periods. In order to speed up the processing of new materials in the school, the aides paste, stamp and cover books, type and file cards, and keep the book shelves and magazine sections in order. This year the Library Aides toured several large libraries in the Boston area.

Junior Assistants Prove Indispensible

Whenever a faculty member needs a report or material for class work, whenever a student's term report is overdue, or whenever a club needs typewritten material, Woburn High's answer to these and many other similar dilemmas is the Junior Assistant's Club.

The membership of this club consists of girls in the business course since only they have the skills necessary for such typing assignments.

Miss Dunbury, Chris O'Connell (Sec.), Christine Gallagher (Pres.), Jane Matthews (V.P.). Missing: Karen Cogan (Treas.).

Hi-Teens Aim for Self-Improvement

The Hi-Teen Fashion Club is composed of the senior girls who are currently enrolled in the Home Economics Program. Its purpose is to introduce to the students representatives of Home Economic professions from the business world. Some of the interesting and educational highlights of this year were a Simplicity Fashion Show, in which members model current dresses, designs from New York, a meat cutting demonstration, a Christmas Social, make-up demonstration, and lectures on poise and fashions design.

Business Ed. Club

In addition to increasing the members' knowledge of business trends and conditions, the Business Education Club performs services for the community and the school, provides a social group for the members, and establishes an "Esprit de Corps" among the senior girls in the Business Department.

Club meetings were held the 3rd Monday of each month, third period, in the Little Theatre where lectures, discussions, and demonstrations by experts in the field of business were presented.

Key Club Promotes Youth Service

The Key Club this year continued its assistance to the school and community under the leadership of Mr. David Johnson. Primarily a service club, the Key Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Woburn, continued in this endeavor by presenting a wide range of excellent guest speakers and a wide variety of informative topics, which include the youth of today, narcotics and the many opportunities in the world of business.

In service to the school and community the Key Club has distributed food and gift baskets to needy families during the holiday season, sponsored a dance for retarded children, sold football programs, checked coats and sold refreshments at school functions and made many donations to the school department.

Leadership, Equality, Opportunity

Under the leadership of Mr. Richard Qualey the Leo Club progressed through its 3rd year since its birth in 1968. The Leo Club, which is sponsored by the Woburn Lion Club, consists of selective youths from the High School. During the past year the Leo Club participated in many successful projects, some of which were: the installation of new officers in November, the outgoing project of collecting books for our men in Vietnam, their assistance in the Lion's Club Light Bulb Sale, and their very successful Valentine's Day Project. Under this leadership the Leo Club hopes to continue its fine progress.

Education, Experience and Earnings

One of the newest programs introduced at the high school to meet the curriculum needs of students is the cooperative work-study program under the direction of Mr. Steven Calabro. The program is available to senior girls and boys not planning on college in the future, but desiring education, experience, and earnings. The program is making a big hit with the students.

Under the program, students' schedules are arranged so that dismissal is at noon, and they can proceed to work thereafter. Meetings are held weekly to provide students with occupational information, discussion and career objectives.

Boys and Girls "W" Club

Varsity letter winners participating in all the competitive sports and maintaining a scholastic average of C form the "W" Club. During its second year the Boys' "W" Club has assisted in athletic activities. The Girls' "W" Club is designed to promote girls' athletics and give recognition to deserving athletes. The club provides refreshments for girls' home games, assists in intramurals and other athletic events, and provides financial assistance for related activities.

Future Teachers

The club aspires to acquaint its members with diverse aspects of teaching and to encourage them in their pursuit of teaching as a career. In a carefully supervised program in the elementary schools, the members are given an opportunity to observe and participate in a realistic teaching situation. Other aspects of the program include information seminars and topics of special education.

Skills Developed for Business World

Seniors who participate in the Distributive Education Course, a program including classes in salesmanship and merchandising and practical training with local merchants, are members of the Distributive Education Club. In November five representatives of the club attended workshops, meetings, and social activities at the Northeast Regional Conference in New York City. The group attended the State Leadership Conference and Competition in Boston this March, and continued their successful record of twelve awards in four years. These trips were financed by the club's successful fund raising sale of candy in the fall.

Talent and Spirit

Again this year they encouraged our football team by their performances at the games and rallies and reflected upon Woburn High's competence by their exhibitions in local parades. Under the direction of Edson Kimball, the orchestra also entertained with noteworthy compositions at the Senior Play, Prize Speaking Contest, and numerous assemblies.

The band is assisted by a group of spirited females who never fail to impress spectators at home and away. Rain or shine the cheerleaders assisted with their pep and enthusiasm at our inter-scholastic competitions. Adding new and original stunts to their repertoire, the Tumblers staged an impressive show of acrobatics at each game. The Majorettes, Emblem Bearers, and Color Guards consistently demonstrated Woburn High's precision and spirit on the field.

Literary Contributions Dominate the Nomad

For the past several years, Woburn High School has had a literary magazine of great quality. This school magazine, the Nomad, uses only material written by students of the school. The Literary Staff selects the best short stories, essays, and poems from those submitted by members of each class. The magazine also features art essays drawn by members of the Art Staff. The magazine published two issues and celebrated another successful year.

Informative Newspaper

Under the direction of Mr. John Johnston the SENTORIAN attempted to promote school spirit and instill a sense of unity among the student body. Issues were published before each vacation, with the staff striving to make each issue as current as deadlines would allow.

To provide an opportunity to evaluate other high schools' activities and to broaden the staff's knowledge of the surrounding areas, the SENTORIAN participated in an exchange program, which involved trading newspapers with other schools.

INNITOU 1971

Many hours of selecting pictures, planning layouts, and writing articles determine the worth of this yearbook. The 1971 INNITOU staff worked diligently toward one goal: to relive memories of high school years.

The pictures in this book depict emotions of joy, participation, and bewilderment. The layouts represent the contemporary style of a dominant photograph. And the articles record the adventures of each social activity, the disappointment of the teams' losses, the joy of their victories, and the major events of each organization.

An individual will wish to recall the past, and may seek something tangible to refresh his memories; the 1971 INNITOU serves as this memento, through which a person can relive the events and highlights of his high school years.

A Dismal Season

Entering the Middlesex League with a close victory over Watertown brought an air of optimism to the Woburn football team. The lack of offensive punch exhibited in the 12-6 victory, however, proved to be an insurmountable problem for Coach Len Hill and his staff. As Woburn confronted the powerful teams of the conference in the ensuing weeks, the offensiveless Tanners could not muster first down yardage and the burden fell on the defense. Out-weighed and out-manned, the Woburn squad could not hold the opponent in remaining games. Nevertheless, under the leadership of co-captains Paul Lindmark and Jim Doucet, the Woburn Tanners showed considerably high morale and participated on a tremendously spirited level.

Tanners Determined but Lack Experience

Woburn's basketball fortunes seem to follow the pattern set by football. Competing with an inexperienced team that was frequently out-rebounded, out-shot, and out-scored, the hoopsters finished in the lower half of the Middlesex League. Playing at various times on equal terms with many of their competitors, the Tanners suffered lapses in crucial situations and succumbed in these games despite the efforts of Coach Skeffington.

We're Number One

"We're No. One!" is the definition of the 1970-71 Woburn High Hockey Season. With a commanding record of 14-2-2, the Tanners took over 1st place in the Middlesex League by tying Melrose in their last game of the season. Taking full advantage of their own rink, the Joyce Arena, and ten returning veterans, the Woburn pucksters outskated and outshot the rest of the Middlesex League. Led by Willis Dunn's and Dave Desmond's scoring ability and the superb defense and hustle by Capt. John Arena and Bob Carpenter, the Tanners carved their way into the Middlesex League record books. Nine returning veterans next year make a Woburn dynasty a certainty.

Winning Season for Baseball

Under new head coach Harry Maderosian, the defending Middlesex League Champs looked for another successful season. This year's team had a strong nucleus of returning lettermen. They were John Arena, Paul Lindmark, Jim Doucet, and Jeff Lentz.

The Tanners, through spirit, talent, and determination, continued throughout the season to be among the dominant powers of Massachusetts baseball. This was proven at the end of the season by their high finish in the Middlesex League. Woburn's record this season indicates that these elements were vital components of a winning season.

Four Players Make All-Star Team

Coach Bob DeLuca's soccer team's third season in the powerful and well balanced Middlesex League was highlighted by the Tanners' overtime victory over state champion Lexington. Although the team suffered many costly injuries to experienced players, two experienced goal-tenders, Steve Irwin and Paul DiCenzo, brought the team back to life in time to have a 6-9-3 record and place four team members, Dan McGrath, Frank Erwin, Byron Breda, and Joe Matore, on the Middlesex League All-Star Team.

Taking full advantages of an early spring thaw, Coach Fedele's linkmen were off to a fine start in the all-powerful Middlesex League. Despite the strong new courses and the changes in the format of match play, peculiar only to the Middlesex League, the team showed tremendous poise and gave many fine displays of pressure golf.

Coach Fedele attributed the team's performance to the extended practice time available to squad members at the Woburn Country Club and to the experience and leadership shown by the team's three three-year veterans.

Lacking depth in both Cross country and Indoor track, Coach Tom Treacy's harriers completed a mediocre season. The teams were not expected to be league leading contenders but showed well against some of the stronger teams. Cross country 5-5 and Indoor Track 1-8 indicated that there would be a contingency of veterans returning for Outdoor Track in the spring.

Field Hockey Places Third

The Tannerettes' first year in the Middlesex League was quite successful. The team placed third in the league standings although they lost only one league contest. With a 3-1-5 league record, the Tannerettes had a successful season in what originally looked like a "building" year.

Led by co-captains, Mary Mullen and Beth Boutwell, the team had great enthusiasm and high spirits. Highlights of the season included the Winchester game which ended in a 1-1 tie with our strong arch rivals, and the Lexington game in which the Tannerettes tied the previously unbeaten and untied league leaders.

Girl's Basketball

The girls' basketball team under Co-Captains Noreen Friel and Beth Boutwell competed for the first time in the Middlesex League. Keeping up with the competition required practice five days a week and dedicated work from all players.

Their record for the season was four wins and five losses. The Junior Varsity had a record of five wins and four losses. A successful season is expected next year as good talent will be returning.

Girl's Softball

Early April marked the beginning of strenuous practice sessions for the members of the Girls' softball team. A month of calisthenics proved beneficial to the girls both physically and mentally.

The magnificent team spirit provided the initial spark necessary for a good performance both at the plate and on the field.

Budding underclassmen are sure to develop a promising team for the coming years, despite the loss of many retiring seniors.

Successful Tennis Season

After a 4-5 record for Spring, 1970, the Girl's Tennis Team is looking forward to a winning season during this second year of Middlesex League competition. Along with six returning Seniors, the team has for the next two years an excellent fallback in several budding Juniors and Sophomores. With a month of both physical and mental exercise and practice, under the extremely helpful and capable coaching of Miss Gerry Wegener, the players hope to develop and establish a promising team for the coming years.

Gymnastics and Wrestling

Two new sports added to the numerous extracurricular activities are gymnastics and wrestling. Because these interscholastic sports are new, a lack of attendance at the matches was noticeable. The gymnastics team under the direction of Coach Holmes and the wrestling team headed by Coach Tom Kasperzak hope for more participation as their prospective sports become better known.
